National Assisted Living Week Memories 2018

In keeping with the 2018 theme, we made some new memories and reminisced about the past during National Assisted Living Week. We "captured the moments" of our lives with everything from a mini-Applefest and crafting fall candles, to painting pictures, learning about our home's history, to a little music and an elegant evening dinner that was superb!

Residents shared memories that had us laughing during our pre-dinner cocktail party. A few did remember that first kiss, way back when, including one resident whose husband was her first and only kisser! Favorite vacation spots, first jobs, and did the ladies prefer pearls or diamonds, were just some of the topics queried by our favorite emcee, Suzie Dailer, RN.

Marcie Porter

We also enjoyed caramel apple sangria and blackberry whiskey lemonade at the party before dinner. Chef Travis treated us to shrimp cocktail, beef tenderloin, cheesy potato rosettes, matchstick vegetables and flaming Bananas Foster for dessert. What a great night to celebrate "us."

Autumn has arrived. What a great time to enjoy the changes Mother Nature brings. Elmhurst embraced Fall by painting pumpkin pictures, making pretty decorated candle lights, and tasting some apple harvest treats. Yep, we're into Autumn.

We welcome new residents this month. Welcome home.

The Christmas holidays are around the bend. We'll host, by popular demand, our Holiday Vendor Sale on Nov. 14 in the evening. The Eggnog Party is Dec.2 . Our Victorian Christmas tour is Saturday, Dec. 8 and Santa will be on hand for the children.

Assisted Living Week was a wonderful celebration of what we do at Elmhurst. Our residents are our top priority because we want them to know Elmhurst is a great place to call home in every season. - Jamie

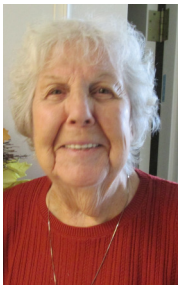
Pinata Party - We tested skills at popping pinata balloons filled with treats and gift certificates during NALW.

Getting to Know

During NALW residents shared a few fun facts about themselves as we remembered the past. We will share these stories in the Newsletter each month.



Marcie Porter grew up in St. Clairsville and loved playing in the rain as a youngster. She also loved everything about Home Ec classes in high school and made many of her own dresses.

She recalled that she and her classmates were "ornery," especially teasing a favorite teacher, Mr. Kerr. She also loved to read, worked in a restaurant, and got married at 19 to a Navy sailor her cousin introduced her to.

She also notes, "Today, I'm just real happy to be here at Elmhurst. Everyone is attentive and checks up on you and everyone is so nice. I love the front porch, too."

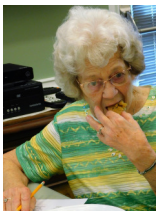
Elegant Evening Wowed Us!

Our elegant evening was fantastic. Residents also received cozy fleece blankets as our gift for National Assisted Living Week. Great fun and memories made for us to share. At left, Chef Travis prepares flaming Bananas Foster.

PAINTING PUMPKINS

Applefest Kicks Off Fall

Our Applesfest featured apple juice, apples dipped in caramels and candies, apple cookies, and apple trivia. So much fun.



Johnny Appleseed's Birthday

Autumn Craft

Decorating battery candles in fall colors was a super project.

Connect 4 Game Is Great Fun!

A trip to Centre Market for lunch and shopping is always great. Elvira Dague checks out a consignment shop. Tony Chieffalo finds Oliver's pies tempting.
